Membership Renewal Notice

National Council on Family Relations

Renew now to ensure continued access to your NCFR membership benefits!

Dear NCFR Member,

On behalf of the NCFR board, our staff, and myself, I am contacting you at the close of your membership period to make sure your experience with NCFR is meeting your expectations. (And if you already have renewed, you can disregard this letter!)

I hope you have enjoyed receiving NCFR Report, our quarterly member magazine. Each issue includes a “Family Focus” section that features articles on key topics written by experienced researchers, practitioners, or educators. Recent focus topics have included:

Families and Obesity Cultural Sea Change and Families Family Resource Management Dating and Mate Selection

The magazine also includes updates from our affiliate councils, section news, and profiles of members.

If your membership includes journals, you had access in recent editions to in-depth analyses on the topics below.

Journal of Marriage and Family (JMF)

Attitudes toward housework and child care and the gendered division of labor
Parenting and adolescents’ sexual initiation
Religious influences on the risk of marriage dissolution

Family Relations (FR)

Work/family conflict after the baby comes
Community-engaged parent education
Contributions of parenting to social competencies and positive values in middle school youth

Journal of Family Theory & Review (JFTR)

Skilled support within intimate relations
Enhancing theoretical rigor in family research

As an added benefit, members who receive JMF and/or FR will also receive JFTR in 2017.

Other benefits of membership

- NCFR Annual Conference: As a member, you receive a significantly reduced registration price for great information and great networking (2017 in Orlando, Florida; 2018 in San Diego, California).
- Section membership: Exchange ideas and opportunities with other members who share your interests.
- The NCFR website: Get access to members-only content on family research, education, and best practices.
- Online “Professional Resource Library”: a repository of articles, research briefs, videos, and more for those in the family field

Membership with journals is about $3 a week — less for students and new professionals — and your continued participation keeps you connected to the latest in research, education, and practice.

As you consider your professional development needs and options in the coming year, we invite you to stay a part of the NCFR family.

Sincerely,

Diane Cushman
Executive Director
