

We have two cars and three teenagers. How do we share? ❖ My child came home with blue hair. What do I do? ❖ My in-laws are coming for Thanksgiving. Help! ❖ My husband and I both like to sleep on the right side of the bed. Can this marriage be saved? ❖ My five year old is asking about sex. What do I tell her? ❖ There's always too much month and not enough paycheck. How can I budget my money more effectively? ❖ He never does the dishes and there are always dirty socks on the floor. How can I teach him to help out? ❖ My son and his wife are getting a divorce. How do I maintain a relationship with my grandchildren? ❖ My child throws terrible temper tantrums. Does this make me a bad parent? ❖ My mother thinks my house is hers. How do I tell her to stop rearranging the furniture? ❖ She wants to go back to work. Who's going to clean the house? ❖ My daughter is a drug addict. How can I help her children to cope? ❖ My son won't respect the family rules. What is a good method of discipline for teenagers? ❖ My parents won't listen when I tell them about important issues in my life. How can I involve them in my life? ❖ My brother and I haven't spoken in years. Is there a road to reconciliation? ❖ I just found out I'm pregnant. How do I tell my family? ❖ My sister steals all my clothes. How can I make her stop? ❖ My daughter is having her first child. How can I be a wonderful grandmother? ❖ My child isn't walking yet. Is this normal? ❖ I may have to put my father in a nursing home. How can I make a good decision? ❖ I'm a single mom. How can I be the best parent for my kids? ❖ My parents fought constantly when I was a child. How can I make my marriage more stable? ❖ My three year old has an imaginary friend. Should I invite him to dinner or banish him from the house? ❖ My husband wants to hang a moose head on the living room wall. How can I tell him no? ❖ I hate my wife's best friend. Will I have to deal with her annoying laugh forever? ❖ My children can't go one hour without fighting. How do I know when to intervene? ❖ My daughter is fourteen. Is that too early to start dating? ❖ He doesn't like my dog. Is there hope for the relationship?
