From the Conference Program Chair

As Family Science scholars and professionals, we are constantly strengthening the knowledge and practice needed to sustain families in complex times. The theme of the 2019 NCFR Annual Conference, “Family Sustainability: Contextualizing Relationships Within Evolving Systems,” focuses on understanding the ever-complex reality of family relationships.

Family sustainability is defined as the relationships among family members that maintain the well-being and resilience of the family unit across generations. It is developed and strengthened by the continuous and various relationships in which the family engages and the impact of the family’s social and physical environments. It is a process, not a static goal. Family sustainability emphasizes the importance of acknowledging and working with supports that already exist within and outside of diverse families.

Our 2019 conference program highlights strengths-based research on diverse families and their relationships within their context; innovative evidence-based best practices, programs, and pedagogies that promote family resiliency and well-being for diverse families in a variety of contexts; and critical analysis of policies that strengthen or are of detriment to relationships for all types of families. We are thrilled to have extraordinary plenary presenters who will address family sustainability in areas of increasing relevancy and urgency to today’s families.

Fully embracing the theme of family sustainability also impels us to think about the NCFR organization, particularly the footprint we could leave and relationships we could create and sustain as we come together for the conference. The Conference Program Committee took this idea far beyond its original scope as it put together the conference program, and a dedicated Local Programming Committee also has developed programming in partnership with agencies in the local conference area that can be sustained during and after the conference.

With that, welcome to the 2019 NCFR Annual Conference, and thank you for all that you bring to this annual “family reunion” and to NCFR.

Conference Program Chair

From the NCFR Board of Directors

Welcome to Fort Worth and to the 2019 Annual Conference of the National Council on Family Relations!

We hope you’ve arrived ready to be inspired by our presenters’ cutting-edge work in family research, education, practice, and policy, and that you have ample opportunity to connect with colleagues and friends, new and old.

This year’s stellar conference program would not be possible without the people who have invested their time and expertise in creating it: our Conference Program Committee members and program chair, session presenters, proposal reviewers, facilitators and discussants, NCFR staff, and numerous others.

The NCFR board and many groups mentioned above also have worked hard to create a conference environment that is safe and respectful. Per the NCFR Conference Code of Conduct (ncfr.org/code-of-conduct), NCFR is committed to providing equal opportunity and treatment for all participants, and a collegial meeting environment that fosters open dialogue and the free expression of ideas without harassment, discrimination, and hostile conduct.

This same commitment is expected of all conference participants, and we thank you for your help in ensuring that all conference participants can have a safe and rewarding experience. Threatening behaviors, harassment, bullying, intimidation, or other unacceptable behaviors you see or experience should be reported; any incidents not reported during the conference to hotel security may be reported to NCFR staff during or after the conference by completing an incident report at ncfr.org/code-of-conduct. All complaints will be treated seriously and responded to promptly.

Thank you, again, for being a part of our conference and NCFR community. We look forward to meeting new colleagues and catching up with those of you whom we know. If you see us — note the “Board Member” ribbon on our conference badges — please introduce yourself. You can also contact us at any time by emailing board@ncfr.org.

On-Site Information

Conference Registration and Badges

Anyone attending NCFR conference events — including visitors — must be registered and wear a badge at all times while attending conference activities. Your conference registration fee covers attendance at:

- plenaries, special sessions, symposia/ workshops, papers, roundtables, resource exchanges, posters
- section and focus group meetings
- meetings of boards or committees to which you belong
- exhibits
- receptions and special events, except the following events that cost extra or are by invitation/RSVP only: preconference workshops; TCRM sessions; MAST mentoring events; Mentoring Academy events; CFLE Reception; Legacy Circle Reception

Guests: A $55 registration is available to guests of conference registrants to attend receptions. Visit the conference registration desk for assistance.

Visitors: Visitor badges are available to approved visitors, such as family of award recipients attending an award ceremony. All visitors must check in, register, and display a badge. Does not include reception attendance.

Conference Registration Desk & Help Desk

Location: 2nd floor

Mon., 2–6 p.m.; Tue., 7 a.m.–7 p.m.; Wed.–Fri., 7 a.m.–5 p.m.; Sat., 7 a.m.–12:30 p.m.

Visit the conference registration desk to check in and pick up conference materials.

At the help desk nearby registration, staff can answer further questions about how to navigate the conference — locating events and services, contacting other staff for assistance, identifying additional conference details, and more.

Student Aide Check-In Desk

Location: 2nd floor, near conference registration

All students who have signed up for and received a student aide assignment for the conference should check in at least 15 minutes before their work time at the student aide desk, located near the main conference registration desk on the second floor.

Continuing Education (CE)

NCFR is approved as a continuing education provider for:

- National Board for Certified Counselors (NBCC) — up to 18.5 CE hours available through full conference attendance
- NCFR Certified Family Life Educators (CFLE) — up to 20.5 CE hours available through full conference attendance

If you registered for CE or verification of conference attendance, check your conference attendee packet materials for a flier with instructions. If you'd still like to register for CE or attendance verification, you can do so at the conference registration desk.

NBCC Compliance Statement:

National Council on Family Relations (NCFR) has been approved by NBCC as an Approved Continuing Education Provider, ACEP 5984. Programs that do not qualify for NBCC credit are clearly identified. NCFR is solely responsible for all aspects of the programs.

On-Site Services & Amenities

NCFR strives to make the conference experience not just educational and professionally enriching, but enjoyable and comfortable. These services are available to you at the conference:

Complimentary WiFi in Meeting Spaces

SSID: NCFR19 | Password: GoMUHDFS
Sponsored by University of Missouri Department of Human Development & Family Science

Dietary Accommodations

Vegetarian and gluten-free selections are included at receptions and are available for catered events.

Cash Concessions & On-Site Dining

A cash concessions stand will be available on the second floor near exhibit booths for quick breakfast and lunch options for purchase.

Wed.–Fri., 7–9 a.m. & 11:30 a.m.–1 p.m.

The Omni Fort Worth Hotel also houses several dining options, including a steakhouse, a casual restaurant, a neighborhood bar, and a Starbucks.

Child Care

For parents seeking supervised care for children traveling with them to the conference, local provider Mom's Best Friend can accept reservations during the conference for in-room hotel care (four-hour minimum). Parents or caregivers are responsible for making their own arrangements and paying for all child care fees. Visit Mom's Best Friend online to get started: momsbestfriend.com/dallas/find-dallas-nannies

Family and Nursing Room

A non-staffed, designated room is provided for parents and their small children, and for nursing. Includes small table and chair, and draped-off private area with comfortable seating and electrical outlet for nursing or expressing milk.

Location: Stockyard 2 (second floor)

Wed.–Fri., 7 a.m.–9 p.m.; Sat., 7 a.m.–11 a.m.

All-Gender Restroom

Location: 2nd and 3rd floors, near men's and women's restrooms. Identifying signage will be displayed outside all-gender restrooms.

NCFR's identification of all-gender restrooms is intended to make public restrooms in our host hotel welcoming and safe for transgender and gender-expansive people, and those who need restroom assistance.

Department of Family Social Science

Accommodations for Disabilities

NCFR and the Omni Fort Worth want to ensure that everyone may fully participate in the conference. For needs related to guest accommodations, contact the hotel directly.

NCFR can provide reasonable accommodations for disabilities for participation in conference sessions when you make a request in advance. It may not be possible to provide certain accommodations when requests are made at the conference. Neither NCFR nor hotel staff can provide personal assistance/aide services.

Conference Code of Conduct

NCFR is committed to providing . . .

- A safe and collegial meeting environment that fosters open dialogue and the free expression of ideas without harassment, discrimination, or hostile conduct.
- Equal opportunity and treatment for all participants, regardless of ability and disability; age; bilingualism and multiculturalism/English language learners; body size and condition; customs and traditions; educational, disciplinary, or career status; ethnicity, race, national origin, or cultural identity; gender, gender identity, and gender expression; geographical background and location; indigenous or immigration status or identity; marital status, relational status (including singlehood), and family structure or identity; objective and subjective worldviews and standpoints; political ideologies and affiliations; religion/no religion, spirituality and affiliations, and faith; sexual orientation, identities, and expressions; or socioeconomic status, residential status, social class, employment, and national service.

This same commitment is expected of all participants in the NCFR Annual Conference. “Participant” refers to anyone present at the NCFR Annual Conference, including NCFR staff, contractors, vendors, exhibitors, venue staff, presenters, visitors, and attendees, regardless of registration status.

All participants are expected to treat others with respect and consideration. Unacceptable behaviors include:

- abusive, demeaning, discriminatory, bullying, harassing behavior and speech, or harmful criticism.
- disruption of sessions or other events.
- intimidation or implied threat of physical harm or professional damage.
- harassment—sexual or otherwise—or any attention or contact considered unwelcome or offensive.
- harmful or prejudicial comments (spoken or written) or images related to race, gender, sexual orientation, ability, religion, or personal characteristics.

Reporting harassing and unacceptable behaviors: Incidents of threatening behaviors, intimidation, harassment, bullying, or other unacceptable behaviors should be reported to hotel security immediately by dialing 817-350-4097 from a cell phone. You may dial 4097 from your individual hotel room. All complaints will be treated seriously and responded to promptly. For emergencies, please call 911 first followed by or in conjunction with a call to 817-350-4097 from a cell phone to notify hotel staff. Any incidents not reported during the conference to hotel security may be reported to NCFR staff during or after the conference verbally or by completing an Incident Report for Violations of NCFR’s Code of Conduct.

Participants who engage in unacceptable behaviors are subject to immediate removal from the event, dismissal from the conference, and further sanctions, including being prohibited from attending future conferences.

Social media and e-communications: Defamatory, abusive, profane, threatening, or offensive comments or posts are considered unacceptable and can result in denial of access and further sanctions as described above.

Weapons Policy: Carrying or displaying weapons of any kind, including firearms, is not permitted in the NCFR conference meeting space and meeting rooms.

Conference Registration: Registered conference attendees must pick up their own registration materials. No exceptions. Only registered badged attendees are allowed to attend NCFR conference sessions.

Find the full code of conduct, which includes details on submission of complaints, grievance procedures, and definitions, on the NCFR website: nconf.org/code-of-conduct

About Conference Sessions

About Conference Session Listings

Session Numbers

Sessions are numbered and listed in numerical order. Wednesday sessions begin with "1," Thursday with "2," Friday with "3," Saturday with "4." Preconference sessions on Tuesday begin with "0."

Session Types

Many session types and formats are indicated in the daily schedules in this guide, and online (note the abbreviations used in this program):

Plenary — Major presentation; overlaps with no other sessions

Special Session — Invited presenters focusing on topics related to Section interest areas

"Invited" Sessions — This means the presenters were invited; all attendees are welcome to attend

Concurrent Sessions — A block of sessions scheduled at the same time; the presentation formats can include:

Paper (PA) — 3 or 4 presentations around a common theme

Symposium (SY) — 3 or 4 presenters addressing the same topic

Workshop (WK) — focused on personal or professional development, best practices, or methods

Poster (PO) — detailed displays that summarize research or practice; authors are available to discuss and answer questions

Roundtable (RTB) — Presenter addresses topic and leads discussion

Resource Exchange (RE) — Roundtable format where presenters showcase professional resources

Poster Symposium (POSY) — a group of commonly themed posters; includes group discussion among presenters and attendees

Lightning Papers (LI) — a collection of presentations, each of which is limited to 8 slides and 8 minutes.

Authors, Co-Authors, Presiders, Discussants, Facilitators

Find names of authors, discussants, and facilitators and their corresponding session numbers at the back of this book, as well as online listed alongside their sessions. Visit ncfr.org/2019-schedule

Session Organizers (NCFR Member Groups)

Many sessions have been organized by NCFR sections (topic interest groups), focus groups, the Students and New Professionals group, the Affiliate Councils Board, the Inclusion and Diversity Committee, the CFLE program, Theory Construction and Research Methodology Workshop group, and other NCFR committees. Sessions are marked with abbreviations for the sponsoring group, which may also indicate topic interest area.

The Social Context of Sustainability Strategies and "Success Sequences"

Texas Ballroom F

Stephanie Coontz, M.A., is professor emerita at Evergreen State College and director of research and public education at the Council on Contemporary Families.

Ms. Coontz will discuss the shift over the last few decades from a deficit model of family diversity to an adaptive one, which has emphasized the strengths of alternative family forms and values and the adaptive coping of individuals who do not or cannot organize their life trajectories along a route that some have called "the success sequence."

Human Development and Family Science at the University of Georgia is an interdisciplinary program focusing on development within diverse ecological contexts. We offer a Masters of Science degree in Child Life (supporting the families of chronically ill children) and Doctoral degrees in Human Development and Family Science or in HDFS with a Marriage and Family Therapy emphasis. We also house a Doctoral Certificate Program in Quantitative Methods in Family Science.

Faculty research interests span development including infancy and childhood, adolescence and young adulthood, adult development and aging. Our faculty conduct basic and applied prevention research exploring couples and marital relationships, parenting and fatherhood, health and biobehavioral processes, immigrant and refugee populations and positive youth development attuned to the diverse socio-cultural contexts of human development.

We have a vital program with over 400 undergraduate majors, nearly 40 graduate students and 25 faculty operating in a collegial and supportive research-active environment.

Special Events

Special This Year at the Conference

WEDNESDAY, NOV. 20

Transgender Day of Remembrance

The Transgender Day of Remembrance (TDOR), observed annually on Nov. 20, coincides with the opening day of the 2019 NCFR Annual Conference.

TDOR is an opportunity for individuals and communities to gather to remember transgender people, gender-diverse individuals, and people perceived to be transgender who have been murdered because of hate (Human Rights Campaign, 2019).

Two conference events are planned for Wednesday to remember those who have been murdered:

1. The Wall of Remembrance, located on the 2nd floor near the conference registration desk.
2. Transgender Day of Remembrance Memorial

Session #146A | Wed., 4:45–5:15 p.m. | Texas Ballroom A

LOCAL INITIATIVE PROGRAM

Building Bridges Between Researchers and Local Agencies: An Interactive Co-Learning Experience

Session #404 | Sat., 11 a.m.–12:15 p.m. | Texas Ballroom D

Participate in this effort to make a positive impact for practitioners and families in Fort Worth, as well as to expand your own networks, knowledge base, and the reach of your research and expertise!

NCFR is piloting a new local initiative to, each year, create and sustain bidirectional relationships with a few family-related agencies in each NCFR Annual Conference city.

The goal of this special session is for local practitioners and NCFR scholars to interact and learn from each other. Local practitioners will have an opportunity to share the work they do with families, and conference attendees can share their research. The aim is to leave a positive footprint in each of NCFR's conference cities and, again, to sustain relationships over time.

Located just eight miles from the nation's capital, the Department of Family Science at the University of Maryland offers four programs: Ph.D. degrees in Maternal & Child Health and Family Science; M.S. Couple & Family Therapy; B.S. Family Science. The Family Science program provides interdisciplinary training in research, theory, policy and practice relevant to the health and well-being of families in contemporary society.

Unique aspects of our training include: a focus on family health and well-being, engagement with culturally diverse populations, research opportunities with NIH and other federal agencies, clinical couple and family therapy, and work in public policy settings. The Department houses the Center for Healthy Families, which provides training and research for the Couple & Family Therapy master's program.

The Department of Family Science has a long history of involvement in NCFR.

National Council on Family Relations 2020 Annual Conference

Wed.–Sat., Nov. 11–14, 2020

Preconference workshops: Tues., Nov. 10

St. Louis, Missouri | Marriott St. Louis Grand Hotel

Conference Theme

Family Expansions, Expanding Families: Contouring Family Science's Negative Spaces

Program Chair:

Brad van Eeden-Moorefield, Ph.D., CFLE
Montclair State University

The 2020 NCFR conference theme is rich with meaning, with a broad goal of using engagement with each other to better understand the dynamic nature of family life in ways that are inclusive, innovative, and waiting to be discovered. The theme places a particular emphasis on taking time to reflect and look for elements of family life that not only are present or emerging, but also those that become visible with the use of a new or yet to be discovered perspective or vantage point.

Family Expansions reflects the idea of our growing knowledge across the Family Sciences, partially as demonstrated by the recent closing of one decade of progress and the moving into a new decade. The use of family expansions also is a nod to the Gateway Arch of St. Louis, built as a symbol of the westward expansion—a time of growth and advancement that, certainly, came with many challenges and controversies.

Expanding Families reflects NCFR's commitment to inclusion and diversity, and is intended to acknowledge families as dynamic, fluid, and diverse in forms and functions.

Contouring Family Science's Negative Spaces suggests the need to be grounded in our historical and contemporary knowledge about the everyday experiences of families, but also engage a critical reflection that affords us opportunities to step back and ask unimaginable questions needed to drive the discipline forward. More simply, the theme suggests engaging the past, present, and future of all families. This also is a nod to the 1979 NCFR conference theme "Everyday life in families: Past, Present, and Future", and accordingly, the 79 neighborhoods that make up our conference location, St. Louis.

As stated at the beginning, our theme is truly rich with meaning and I am confident you will find the same richness and meaning at this year's conference!

Special Note on New Opportunities and Formats:

One of the conference hopes is to create more opportunities for engagement within sessions rather than focusing mostly on presenting. It is through engaging multiple perspectives and vantage points that we can begin to make a yet unimagined discovery or practice possible, which is a second hope for the conference.

Proposal Submission

Deadline:

11:59 p.m.

Pacific Standard Time

March 2, 2020

For proposals, it is important to demonstrate the potential of the scholarship's contributions in innovating the future. For presenters, this should become part of the presentation dialogue across presenters as well as the audience. Because realizing these hopes require more time devoted to dialogue in sessions, we suggest authors focus most on the quality (e.g., methods used, limitations) and contributions (e.g., findings and how they add to the field) of their work when presenting. We also added new workshop formats to help achieve our hopes. These workshops should focus on the co-creation of new knowledge and skills in real time. Examples include: developing or demonstrating novel research methods, processes, or analysis strategies; theory development; conceptualizing emerging or novel phenomenon; developing or demonstrating novel clinical, programmatic, or education practices; leadership skills; community engagement; and ways to adapt or improve the inclusiveness of any of the above. Specific directions for the new workshops will be provided in the long call for proposals. Find more information about submitting your proposals at ncfr.org/ncfr-2020. The online proposal system will open in January 2020.

Sustainable Conference Goals

To better understand the dynamic and fluid nature of families for this new decade, we will use dialogue, engagement, and presentations of scholarship to articulate a set of inclusive

1. research priorities.
2. evidence-supported practices.
3. policy priorities.
4. educational/pedagogical priorities.

Criteria for Proposals

The proposal describes work that meets BOTH of the following criteria:

- (a) The work is sufficiently developed.
- (b) Regardless of focus (e.g., research, practice), an appropriate, rigorous approach is used.

Proposals can be based on qualitative, quantitative, or mixed methods; systemic literature reviews; or analyses of a theoretical, pedagogical, or policy nature, and must include:

- (a) A strong connection to existing research
- (b) A strong connection to theory
- (c) The potential to stimulate new knowledge and or innovative practices

The proposal is written clearly, logically organized, and includes references.

Submission Questions

May I submit a previously published/presented paper?

No. Papers that have been published or previously presented are not accepted.

When will I know if my proposal has been accepted?

You will be notified by June 1, 2020.

If my proposal is accepted, what is expected of me?

- At least one author of accepted proposals must attend the conference, register, and pay the registration fee to present.
- Upload copies of the PowerPoint slides you will be using to the NCFR website by one week prior to the conference.
- If your presentation is accepted as a paper, symposium, lightning paper, or poster symposium, a copy of your presentation must be sent to the session facilitator/discussant by Oct. 15, 2020. You also are required to upload your presentation PowerPoint slides to the NCFR website (except poster symposium).
