

NCFR Honors Student Recognition

Through its Honors Student Recognition Program, the National Council on Family Relations (NCFR) recognizes and applauds graduating student members who have demonstrated exceptional accomplishments and involvement in scholarship, leadership, and community service in Family Science, and NCFR encourages these students to continue contributing to the discipline.

Students may submit applications for themselves or an application may be submitted for a student by someone else such as a college/university faculty or staff person or an employer. Awardees receive a graduation stole, a certificate, and recognition in the NCFR Report member magazine.

Basic Eligibility Criteria — The student must fulfill the following to be considered:

- Be a member of NCFR. The student can be an undergraduate or graduate student.
- Have at least 30 credits in family-specific coursework.
- Have a grade-point average (GPA) in their major of 3.5 or better at the time of application.

Application Requirements — The following must be submitted:

- Completed application form (see page 2).
- One recommendation (see page 3 for form template) completed by a faculty member or employer addressing the student's academic, leadership, and community service accomplishments. The recommender must email their completed recommendation form directly to membership@ncfr.org by the deadline noted in the box above.
- Transcript(s). Email Application Materials To: membership@ncfr.org. Submit either of these:
 - Official transcript (a photocopy of official transcript is not acceptable); or
 - Unofficial transcript signed by an adviser on the page that displays the major GPA
- Current résumé/CV showing the student's activities and accomplishments during their current degree program in 3 areas: 1) scholarship (academics), 2) leadership, and 3) community service in the Family Science discipline.
 - Include dates of each activity and accomplishment.
 - For the scholarship (academics) category, Undergraduate students will be evaluated based on GPA only. Graduate students will be evaluated based on GPA and research published/presented.

Tip: To ensure your activities are clearly represented to the application reviewers, it may be helpful to create a version of your résumé or CV that lists your activities by the 3 categories.
- Non-refundable $35 application fee. To pay by credit card, visit NCFR's online store at ncfr.org/store and purchase the "Honors Application Fee" item (under the "Additional Items" tab). To pay by check, mail to NCFR's mailing address below.

Email application materials to membership@ncfr.org.

Materials must be received and payment made by these dates:

Spring Term — March 1

Summer Term — June 1

Fall Term — October 1

Evaluation of Applications — Applicants who meet the basic eligibility criteria will be further evaluated in these areas:

- Scholarship (Academics) in Family Science:
 - Undergraduate students: 3.5 GPA in major
 - Graduate students: 3.5 GPA in major and research published/presented during the time of their degree program
- Leadership in Family Science: Frequency, length, and significance of Family Science leadership during the time of their degree program
- Community Service in Family Science: Frequency, length, and significance of Family Science community service during the time of their degree program
- Recommendation: Comments from faculty/employer recommender
- Presentation of Application: Materials written and presented well and free of errors
