

2022 Theory Construction & Research Methodology Workshop

November 15-16, 2022

Isaac Washburn & Ray Petren, TCRM Co-chairs

Proposal Submission Form

Due March 15, 2022 at 11:59 p.m. PST

Submissions should be sent to tcrm@ncfr.org

Type of paper proposed Working paper Working paper symposium*
 Dialogue session Methodology workshop

For working paper symposia, please submit individual forms for each paper, but together as a single application. Please indicate in your email that you are proposing a working paper symposium and provide a proposed title for the symposium and a brief description of how the papers tie together.*

For a dialogue session, please submit your proposed session on a single form.*

Author Information (please list in order that authors that are listed in the proposal)

Primary author name:

Job title:

Employer:

Highest degree earned:

Field of degree:

Institution highest degree earned:

Current licenses:

E-mail:

Co-author name:

Job title:

Employer:

Highest degree earned:

Current licenses:

E-mail:

Co-author name:

Job title:

Employer:

Highest degree earned:

Current licenses:

E-mail:

Proposal Title (please limit to 75 characters)

Abstract (100 words or less)

Additional Information

My proposal is mostly focused on:

Research methods Theory advancement Emerging ideas Reconsideration of ideas

Does your proposal discuss issues relevant to practitioners, clinicians, and/or applied researchers?

Yes No

Please indicate what audiovisual equipment needs you may have beyond a laptop and projector.

Are you a student (prior to receiving a Ph.D.) or new professional (5 or fewer years since Ph.D.)?

Student New Professional Neither

Do you agree to your proposal being published on the NCFR website prior to the meeting?

Yes No

Declarations

This proposal has been approved by all authors.

I/we have read and agree to all requirements in the Call for Proposals.

I/we agree to register for the TCRM workshop by September 1, 2022.

I/we will read discussant comments prior to TCRM and will be prepared to respond to them.

Proposed Discussants/Reviewers

Name:

Employer:

Email:

Name:

Employer:

Email:

Instructions for Submitting a Proposal to TCRM

1. All proposals should be submitted electronically to the co-chairs at tcrm@ncfr.org. Proposals will not be accepted via alternative submission methods.
2. Attach your proposal in the email as a single document (symposium should be submitted as a single file with all proposed papers included) in PDF format consisting of:
 - a. this form (including proposed discussants/reviewers);
 - b. the full paper, symposium, workshop title, or dialogue session name;
 - c. a running page header appropriate to the topic;
 - d. a short abstract (no more than 100 words for publicity purposes);
 - e. a proposal (no more than 1,750, excluding tables, figures, and references) for peer review; and
 - f. 2 to 3 suggestions for discussants.
3. Symposium only: the submission should include proposed title for the symposium and a brief description of how the papers tie together in the body of the email including the proposed papers.
4. Proposals should provide:
 - a. background, context, and significance of the topic proposal; connections to the NCFR conference theme (www.ncfr.org/ncfr-2022/overview-and-theme) are welcome.
 - b. description of how the paper, session, or workshop addresses innovative, novel, and/or important issues in theory, methodology, or the empirical study of families; and
 - c. a brief discussion of the paper, session, or workshop's implications for research and/or practice. Evidence of work already underway is welcomed and encouraged.
5. The deadline for TCRM submissions is March 15, 2022, 11:59 p.m. PST.
 - a. Authors of accepted papers will be required to submit a full version of the paper, up to 35 pages, by September 1, 2022.
 - b. New for this year: Authors will submit an extended abstract (1000 words) by October 15, 2022. The extended abstract will represent what authors would have presented during the session in previous years at TCRM. Rather than have the authors present the paper at the beginning of the TCRM session, we are asking participants to at least read the extended abstract if they cannot read the entire paper so we can get to discussion quicker.
6. TCRM submitters should fill out the TCRM application form and attach the proposal in PDF format.